

Commvault Appoints Danielle Sheer as Chief Legal Officer

January 13, 2022

Sheer's data privacy expertise and experience at high-growth SaaS companies strengthens the delivery of Commvault's best-in-class intelligent data services

TINTON FALLS, N.J., Jan. 13, 2022 /PRNewswire/ -- Commvault (NASDAQ: CVLT), a recognized global enterprise leader in intelligent data services across on-premises, cloud, and software as a service (SaaS) environments, today announced Danielle Sheer as Chief Legal and Compliance Officer. She will lead the company's global legal and compliance teams and its governance, commercial, intellectual property, and privacy programs.

"Data management, protection, and governance has never been more complex or more critical," said Sanjay Mirchandani, President and CEO, Commvault. "Danielle's proven strategic leadership and deep experience managing complex global data privacy directives and cultures will enable us to set new standards and widen our lead as a trusted partner in this industry."

Sheer has repeatedly scaled data privacy and other global legal operations for public technology companies, led IPOs and transformative strategic transactions and integrations, and advised management and boards on governance and shareholder matters for SaaS and software technology firms.

"Enterprises globally understand that data drives business and appreciate that threats to their data – like ransomware – are significant and growing. The need for secure, intelligent data services is greater than ever. I am honored to join Sanjay and the Commvault leadership team in helping customers succeed in a data-driven world," added Sheer.

Sheer previously served as General Counsel at financial technology services company Bottomline and at cloud-backup SaaS solutions provider Carbonite. She currently serves on the Board of Directors of LinkSquares; the Leadership Board at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center; and on the Steering Committee for TechGC.
