

CommVault Opens Queensland, Australia Branch, Expanding Service to Customers in Northern Territory

June 13, 2006

-- Linton-Smith Appointed Sales Manager for Queensland and Northern Territory --

Sydney, Australia — June 13 2006 —CommVault®, a leading provider of Unified Data Management Solutions, today announced the opening of a Queensland, Australia office and the addition of Ben Linton-Smith, Sales Manager for Queensland and Northern Territory, as a member of the CommVault Queensland team.

Based in Brisbane, Linton-Smith joins CommVault with 12 years of technical and sales experience, including over five years in the roles of senior system engineer and technical account manager.

Linton-Smith said, "I have worked in the data protection market for the last six years, and have seen first-hand the momentum CommVault has built. I am pleased to join the company as it continues to meet the needs of customers for a unified approach to data protection and management."

Linton-Smith will be responsible for expanding the Queensland territory through work with key partners and original equipment manufacturers. In addition, Linton-Smith will assist customers with technical pre-sales support.

Gerry Sillars, regional director of CommVault Oceania, said, "We have an outstanding team of sales, pre-sales and technical staff and we are very pleased to welcome Ben, especially as the first member of our Queensland team. Ben will be integral in developing our business in the northern regions."
