

CommVault Signs Distribution Agreement in India

October 8, 2007

First Distribution Agreement in India Signed with Inflow; Country Sales Manager Appointed

LONDON--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Oct. 8, 2007--CommVault(R) (NASDAQ:CVLT) today announced its continued expansion into the rapidly growing Indian technology market, signing its first distribution agreement in the country with Inflow Technologies and appointing Vivek Anand as Country Sales Manager. By establishing a local sales and distribution presence, CommVault is aiming to provide a timelier and more personalized level of service for enterprises in India and to increase its market share in this burgeoning market.

Inflow Technologies, a master reseller responsible for the recruiting, education, training, development and growth of specific channels, is one of the leading information management solutions and services companies in India. Inflow will market and distribute the full CommVault Simpana(TM) software suite including Data Protection, Replication, Archive, Search and Storage Resource Management modules and will assist CommVault in the development of its channel across India by recruiting and training suitable reseller candidates. As a well-established player in the Indian market, Inflow will utilize its established traction within the reseller community to launch and expand CommVault's footprint in India.

Country Sales Manager Appointed

As CommVault's new country sales manager, Anand will be responsible for sales operations in India with the task of growing CommVault's channel business and supporting CommVault's commitment to the Indian market. Anand is the first member of what is expected to be a growing team based out of Mumbai. Focused on developing enterprise sales programs for India, Anand will report to Ross Stewart, CommVault's regional director of emerging markets, which includes the Middle East, Eastern Europe, Russia and India.

"CommVault has identified India as a market with huge growth potential and we are confident that now is the right time to be expanding our operations in the region," said Ross Stewart, CommVault's regional director of emerging markets. "We are pleased to work with Inflow to build a programme for resellers that rewards partners' commitment and increasing knowledge base. By bringing Vivek on board, we are committed to truly understanding our Indian customers and their business and to delivering high-quality, reliable information availability and management solutions designed to meet their business requirements."

"Indian companies, particularly in the technology sector, are growing at such a rapid pace that there is increasing demand for a truly singular approach to managing explosive data growth," said Byju Pillai, president and CEO, Inflow Technologies. "We see the performance, simplicity and TCO benefits of CommVault's Singular Information Management(TM) approach as critical to helping our customers address the need for reduced data management complexity and as the key to unlocking new opportunities for Inflow in the Indian market."
