Session: "Reducing Cost from Electronic Discovery"

For many companies, a substantial portion of the law department budget is devoted to "electronic discovery," a line item that is mysterious to most general counsel. Many companies have found they can reduce these costs substantially by innovating in four key areas. This session will focus on reducing discovery costs in each of these four distinct areas: Preserving and collecting evidence (e.g. legal holds); Minimizing data sets (e.g. culling and filtering); Analyzing quality and productivity (e.g. processing, production and clustering); and Document review.
