- With dynamic presentations, speaking sessions and hands-on training, event focuses on helping Commvault customers extract powerful insights and value from their data --

TINTON FALLS, N.J., May 2, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- Commvault, a global leader in enterprise data protection and information management, today announced it will be bringing together customers, partners, prospects, employees, analysts and industry luminaries for its inaugural customer conference "Commvault GO 2016," the only industry event truly dedicated to protecting data and activating data wherever it resides – in the cloud, on mobile, in the data center and in increasingly hybrid environments.

To be held October 3-5, 2016 in Orlando, Florida at the Rosen Shingle Creek, the event will feature dynamic presentations, insightful breakout sessions and dedicated exhibition displays representing the broad Commvault partner ecosystem. Commvault GO 2016 is focused on how companies can unlock powerful insights from data and solve increasing challenges of managing data and information in today's highly disrupted, fast-paced global business environment.

The Commvault GO agenda is packed with exclusive presentations, speaking sessions, technical deep-dives and hands-on labs, and features distinct content tracks for executive, business and technical audiences. Additionally, Commvault is also providing deeply-discounted certification training during the conference, giving users the opportunity to sharpen their skill sets and learn directly from Commvault experts and partners and earn professional certifications.

"Commvault GO 2016 provides a unique forum to help companies learn how to innovate their business by unlocking the potential in their data through better data insights, while - at the same time - leveraging best practices in data management designed to reduce risk and complexity, lower costs, and consume new technologies," said N. Robert Hammer, Chairman, President & CEO of Commvault. "Together with our partner ecosystem, leading business and data experts, and our customers, Commvault GO 2016 will be the "go to" event this fall."

Commvault GO 2016 is ideal for business and public sector professionals who play strategic, leadership, and operational roles in data-driven organizations. The conference agenda will feature knowledge tracks and networking opportunities to meet the specific needs of CIOs, IT directors, IT architects, operations directors, system administrators, system analysts, system engineers, and technology leads for organizations in a broad range of industries (like healthcare, financial services, public sector, etc.).

Unleash the Power of Commvault's Integrated Solutions Portfolio

Commvault GO will be the place to experience the power of the Commvault Data Platform, part of the eleventh major release of the company's integrated solutions portfolio. Through technical deep-dives and hands-on demo sessions with Commvault experts, attendees will be able to explore the depth of Commvault's solutions portfolio, learn about best practices in optimizing and modernizing their data management environment, and be able to extend discussions with Commvault partners to learn about value added services and complementary products currently available in the market.
